FOREWARD

In this uncertain time of Covid 19, it becomes even more important to promote graduate design. No physical degree shows or exhibitions mean that the Graduate Awards becomes even more important as a showcase for the best of graduate design in Ireland. The IDI Graduate Awards has gone from strength to strength over the last five years, doubling in size since 2016. Despite the challenges of 2020 the IDI is committed the celebrating the best of Irish design and, social distancing permitting, we hope to see you at the awards presentation in November.

THE CATEGORIES

1 ANIMATION AND MOTION DESIGN (INCLUDING THE USE OF VIDEO)

In this category entrants can submit projects that use animation (2D/3D), motion, visual effects, or make use of video and moving-image. Projects should consider the kinetic nature of the moving image and demonstrate its use to creatively contribute to the overall project. Entrants can upload MPG or moving image files together with storyboards.

2 ARCHITECTURE

Projects in this category must be for the built environment. This includes all residential, commercial, retail, office, hospitality, healthcare, education, conservation, leisure, marine, public, performance and museum based projects. The project entries can be a new build, retro-fit or fit-out. Use good quality JPGs only for your attached images.

3 INTERIOR DESIGN / INTERIOR ARCHITECTURE

Projects in this category must be focused on interiors designed for commercial, educational, cultural, or residential use. This interiors category also covers fit-outs, renovations, and alterations to existing structures. The jury will consider the use of space, the adaptation, complexity, purpose, innovation, impact, clarity, accessibility, sustainability, materiality, and transition of the project. Use good quality JPGs only for your attached images. Walk-through videos are also welcome (3 mins. or less).

4 INTERACTION DESIGN

Projects in this category can include Service Design, UI/UX, and Digital Product Design. The Interaction Design award recognizes user orientation and outstanding design in products, digital solutions, and designed services. For websites, please provide a link to a live site. The jury will focus on how the project met the demands of present day and future users, positive user experience, added human value, empathy, imagination, and engendered brand identity that is accessible, comfortable and sympathetic. Use good quality JPGs only for your attached images. Under the attachments section, you may include a 1 page PDF document further elaborating on the process in addition to the maximum 500 word description given under the criteria section.

5 EXHIBITION DESIGN/ VISUAL MERCHANDISING

Entrants to this category are exhibition design, store, window, in-store, pop-up shop designs or any other visual merchandising displays that motivate customers towards a purchase. The jury will consider technical skill, inventive use of media, complexity, commercial purpose and/or message, creativity, innovation, visual impact, clarity, materiality, choice of merchandise, and proportional transitions. Strong photography is essential for the judging of the final submission. Use good quality JPGs only for your attached images. Walk-through videos are also welcome (3 mins. or less).

6 TEXTILES

This category is for the design of fabrics, yarns and fibres; whether for clothing, accessories or other uses. The jury will be looking for ground-breaking techniques, use of fabrics, quality, functionality, and overall craft. Please include macro/close-up photographs of your fabrics and how they have been used. Strong photography is essential for the judging of the final submission as judges will not see actual fabric samples. Use good quality JPGs only for your attached images.

7 FASHION DESIGN

This category is for garments or a collection of garments that are functional or experimental and are executed considering silhouette, cut, draping and movement. The jury will be looking for technical ability in the production of the garment, use of fabrics, functionality, and overall demonstration of craft. Pay particular emphasis to the quality of the photography. As well as photo-shoot images of garments worn, it would be very helpful to include detailed images to showcase your project. These could be close ups of tailoring, embellishments, and detailing. Bear in mind the judges only have images to review and important details of the design may not be apparent. Use good quality JPGs only for your attached images.

8 HANDMADE PRODUCTS/ARTEFACTS

This category is for objects or artefacts made by hand. These can include objects for home, retail, jewelery, craft or heritage projects celebrating and modernizing techniques of making from the past. Pay particular emphasis to the quality of the photography. As well as photo-shoot images, it would be very helpful to include detailed images to showcase your project. Bear in mind the judges only have images to review, important details of the design may not be apparent. Use good quality JPGs only for your attached images.

9 DESIGN RESEARCH

This year entries must be in by 30th August 2020.

This category is for academic research in the form of an extended essay OR thesis. (Minimum word count: 6000). The Design Research category awards academic research that is embedded in any design sector and aims to improve, investigate or add to understanding of that topic. This category applies to both Masters and Bachelors projects including those submitted for a BA, BArch, BDes, BSc, MA and MSc students on a taught course. Please upload a separate abstract along with the body of text in PDF format.

10 PRODUCT DESIGN: FURNITURE DESIGN

This category is for pieces of bespoke furniture or furniture designed to be manufactured commercially. The jury will be looking for ground-breaking techniques, use of material, quality and overall craft. Pay particular attention to the quality of the photography. As well as photo-shoot images, it would be very helpful to include detailed images to showcase your project. Bear in mind the judges only have images to review, important details of the design may not be apparent. Use good quality JPGs only for your attached images.

11 PRODUCT DESIGN: INDUSTRIAL OR CONSUMER PRODUCTS

This category is for any project for the consumer and non-consumer market including industrial, heavy equipment, lighting, products for children, office equipment and transportation. The jury will be looking for innovative design that places the end-user at the centre of the proposed solution, use of material, high quality and overall attention to detail. Use good quality JPGs only for your attached images.

This category excludes medical devices and furniture.

12 PRODUCT DESIGN: MEDICAL DEVICES

This category is for any project, product or solution that has been designed to address a requirement in the medical device sector. Projects would include those looking at assisted living technology, clinical and laboratory equipment, hospital, medical/healthcare devices and other life sciences equipment. This category is sponsored by Design Partners. The jury will be looking for innovative design, of a high quality that achieves a high aesthetic standard without compromising on usability. Design solutions should place the end-user at the centre of the proposed solution and the benefit to the user should be clear. Use of material and overall attention to detail are important considerations. Use good quality JPGs only for your attached images.

13 DESIGN FOR FILM AND THEATRE

This category is open for entries encompassing set design for film and theatre, costume design and prop design. Entrants should pay particular attention to the quality of the photography or video submitted. In addition to photography it would be very helpful to include detailed images or sketches to showcase your project. Bear in mind the judges only have images to review so important details of the design may not be apparent. Use good quality JPGs only for your attached images.

14 DESIGN FOR SUSTAINABILITY

This category is open to any projects, which address a social need. It encompasses themes in design for environmental, social and economic sustainability, biodiversity, regenerative design, climate action and socially sustainable design and which consider the ongoing global context.

15 VISUAL COMMUNICATION: BRAND IDENTITY

In this category entrants can submit a variety of applications for a visual brand, including logo, stationery suites, brand guidelines, print, digital, environmental, signage etc. (all applications of the identity and visual language). The jury will be looking for an identity that shows a unified vision and tools that help the client build the brand.

16 VISUAL COMMUNICATION: DESIGN FOR DIGITAL

In this category entrants can submit projects that will be viewed, used or exist online or in digital format only. These projects could be cinematic, experimental, kinetic or explore innovation through digital outcomes. They could be frontend design for online projects but must consider how the viewer connects with the information through digital means. Please provide URL links to any live projects, or upload Gifs etc. with your submission. If required you may submit a 1-page PDF further elaborating on the process. This is in addition to the maximum 500 word description.

17 VISUAL COMMUNICATION: USE OF ILLUSTRATION IN DESIGN

In this category entrants are asked to submit illustrations used in the context of a design project. Illustration work must be a body of work, no singular images and can include any original artwork designed to be used for books, book covers, editorial, posters, packaging etc. The jury will be looking for creativity, concept and craft in both the illustration and how it fits into the overall design.

18 VISUAL COMMUNICATION: PACKAGING DESIGN

In this category entrants are asked to submit packaging projects which can come from any sector; food, beverage, technology, FMCG, clothing etc. Entrants should consider the impact packaging has on our planet and propose solutions that do not add to landfill, but are functional, make use of innovative substrates and consider the full life cycle of the product.

19 VISUAL COMMUNICATION: PRINTED BOOK

In this category entrants can submit printed books; educational, text, children's, art, coffee-table books etc. The jury will look at the overall presentation of the object, the context for which it is intended and the inventiveness of layout and care with type as well as print decisions and execution.

20 VISUAL COMMUNICATION: PRINTED MATERIAL (OTHER THAN BOOKS)

In this category entrants are asked to submit projects including; posters, booklets, printed collateral and matter that perhaps does not fit in the other visual communication categories. The jury will be looking for creativity, innovation, functionality and craft in both the design and the print choices and how well the project has managed the printed ephemera.

21 VISUAL COMMUNICATION: USE OF TYPOGRAPHY IN DESIGN

In this category entrants will demonstrate excellence in typographic execution and understanding. Typography should be an intrinsic element of the overall design solution. The jury will look for creativity, subtlety, nuance or differentiating impact of the typography, craft, detail, consistency, originality, maintenance of superlative standards and clarity in visual communication of emotional or commercial message.

22 UNIVERSAL DESIGN

Is your design Universal? The Universal Design award is sponsored by the Centre for Excellence in Universal Design (CEUD). Projects cannot be entered into this category rather judges from CEUD will evaluate all qualifying entries based on how clearly a project follows a Universal Design approach.

Judges will be looking at the following;

- The extent to which you considered and addressed the diverse needs, abilities and characteristics of (age, size, ability, disability).
- Does the design align with at least four of the Principles of Universal Design by identifying the features and elements that specifically achieve the relevant UD Guidelines.
- If your project specifically addresses Universal Design, please explain in the descriptive text how you have been guided by Universal Design principles (Access, Understand and Use. Use is how people generally interact with a design: first they access it (approach and perceive); secondly they understand it (comprehend and decide); and thirdly they use it (act or react).

23 DESIGN FOR CHANGE

The Design for Change category encompasses any project that aims to assist, improve or enhance a group or groups of people, or places through design intervention. This can be in the context of the environment, culture, society, disenfranchised or marginalized groups. This award is sponsored by Design Skillnet. Projects cannot be entered into this category rather judges will shortlist projects from all entries, which will be reviewed by the Graduate Awards Committee and IDI President.

24 GRAND PRIX

The Grand Prix recognizes emerging talent from all graduate entries. This can come from any category and the winner must demonstrate the potential to become a leader in the design industry and an ambassador for the values IDI holds. Projects cannot be entered into this category rather judges will shortlist projects from all entries, which will be reviewed by the Graduate Awards Committee and IDI President.
